01 CLIENT NEED

Healthcare organizations need leaders who can build high-performing teams, make sound decisions in complex systems and carry a culture of excellence through growth or a new hospital opening. Needs range from physicians stepping into their first leadership roles, to senior leaders wanting a concise look at what makes the Cleveland Clinic model work, to executive teams that need structured onboarding or sustained development tied to measurable improvement.

Intended audience: Physicians with leadership potential, healthcare leaders and executives, and executive and senior leaders of new and established hospitals, clinical and non-clinical.

02 CLEVELAND CLINIC VALUE PROPOSITION

Cleveland Clinic leadership programs combine experiential learning with direct exposure to Cleveland Clinic's leadership, culture and operational model, including executive interactions, behind-the-scenes access and real-world healthcare system operations.

Options range from immersive programs at Cleveland Clinic to blended pathways delivered with the participant organization, building strategic leadership, business acumen and organizational alignment that leaders apply in their own systems.
