01 CLIENT NEED

Organizations growing their workforce or opening new hospitals need caregivers and leaders who share the same purpose, values and behaviors, and the internal capability to sustain them. Common needs include consistent frontline onboarding, stronger clinician-patient communication, internal coaching, a shared high-reliability foundation, and leadership of a patient-experience program.

Intended audience: Varies by program, from patient-facing individual contributors and all caregivers to leaders, managers, internal coaching champions and patient-experience leaders. Foundational Skills Onboarding and its Leader Supplement are primarily designed for domestic audiences.

02 CLEVELAND CLINIC VALUE PROPOSITION

These programs draw on Cleveland Clinic's own approaches to caregiver onboarding, empathy- and relationship-centered coaching, the evidence-based R.E.D.E. communication model, high reliability and patient experience strategy.

They combine practical tools with leader reinforcement so that new behaviors last, and several can be locally facilitated, licensed or delivered digitally to reach the whole workforce.

03 KEY DELIVERABLES

- Foundational Skills Onboarding. Patient-facing individual contributors; 4-day, locally facilitated onboarding on purpose, values, role clarity and service excellence
- Foundational Skills Onboarding: Leader Supplement. Leaders of onboarding participants; about 4 months of virtual classes to reinforce the program's behaviors and tools
- Coach Training + Program Development. Leaders, managers and coaching champions; about 7 months of virtual classes and coaching to design and launch an internal coaching program
- High Reliability Organization (HRO) eLearnings. All caregivers and leaders; 5 hours across six core modules and four leader modules
- The R.E.D.E. Model. Open to all; 3-day communication course on relationship-building, available as a facilitated or licensed course with a CME option
- Patient Experience Leaders Forum. Open to all; 3-day program on designing, operationalizing and sustaining patient-centered care
